The Cooperative Exchange Announces
GHN-Online, Inc. as Newest Member

DALLAS, TX (April 10, 2007) – The Cooperative Exchange, the association for the healthcare transaction clearinghouse industry, approved the membership GHN-Online, Inc., based in Dallas, Texas. GHN-Online is the industry innovator in online enterprise class healthcare transaction processing. This addition expands the current membership of the Cooperative Exchange to 10 member companies.

GHN-Online is consistently ranked in the top 20 of the Deloitte and Touche Tech Titan Fast 50, the Texas Metroplex Technology Business Council Tech Titan Fast 50 and the State of Texas Crescent Technology Fast 50. It became EHNAC accredited in 2004.

“Joining the Cooperative Exchange makes enormous business sense,” says Azadeh Farahmand, GHN-Online Founder and CEO. “With this relationship, the expanded reach to payers through our transparent network connections will provide unmatched value to our clients. It also allows us to interact in high-level discussions on the direction of the industry and share in the latest market trends and developments.”

“We are very excited by GHN-Online joining the Cooperative Exchange,” adds Cooperative Exchange President, Dr. Fred Horowitz, “their membership furthers our mission of providing widespread transactional connectivity to the healthcare industry.”

About GHN-Online, Inc.

GHN-Online, Inc., based in Dallas, Texas, is the industry innovator in online enterprise class healthcare transaction processing. Using GHN-Online's network and web-based technology, providers can interface and send claims for processing, correct claims rejections online, take administrative advantage of the industry's first payer/provider claims repository, receive payment acknowledgement, and use the real-time online-eligibility service. GHN-Online's services and innovations are described in its Web site, www.ghnonline.com.

About the Cooperative Exchange

The Cooperative Exchange (www.CooperativeExchange.org), was established to expand electronic healthcare transactions among participants in the health care industry. The goals of the organization are to: allow payers to establish a connection with one or more Cooperative Exchange members in order to gain access to an expanded provider base; increase competition; and shorten the timeline within which all healthcare participants can realize an ROI on HIPAA initiatives. It is the policy of Cooperative Exchange to comply strictly with the antitrust laws and regulations of the United States applicable to meetings, programs, or activities.
